The Hanford Reach is the only remaining area on the Columbia River where Chinook Salmon still spawn naturally. The reason for this success is that it has not been tampered with. Leave it alone, leave it natural.

There is so much contamination above and below ground, considering the half-life, the area will be a hazard for many years. Flora and fauna are effected and there should not be any grazing or agriculture permitted.

The area was borrowed from the Indians and areas of religious importance needs to be preserved.

Alternative Two is the best plan which will include the Wahluke Slope and all the islands. Senator Murrays proposal for Wild and Scenic River would serve the area best.

No local control. Local control is only good for the locals. Federal and State control would be best.

This is a postage-paid self-mailer. Please fold and seal before mailing to the address on the back.
