2.0 Review of Lifecycle Report Status

Status of the 2014 Lifecycle Report

The Draft 2014 Lifecycle Report was delivered to RL on August 19, 2013, for internal review. RL has been working to incorporate the FY14 Project Management Baseline (PMB) into the planning case data so that the report has the most recent cost information. Also new this year is a foreword from the RL and ORP Managers to provide highlights and perspective on the Hanford Site cleanup mission.

Status of the 2015 Lifecycle Report

The issue of whether the 2015 Lifecycle Report should include an alternatives analysis was discussed<sup>1</sup>. Ecology advocated for proceeding with alternative analyses for two future cleanup actions: Deep Vadose Zone (200-DV-1 Operable Unit [OU]) and 200 East Groundwater (200-PO-1 and 200-BP-5 OUs), noting that protection of groundwater is a top priority for Ecology. EPA disagreed that using resources to prepare detailed upper bound cost estimates for these future cleanup actions was beneficial, noting that the DOE planning case estimate presented in each Lifecycle Report is adequate to describe the cost of compliance. In addition, feasibility studies and proposed plans for these cleanup actions are due in 2015, so including similar analyses in the 2015 Lifecycle Report (due January 31, 2015) has questionable benefits.

EPA requested that the issue of whether the 2015 Lifecycle Report should include an alternatives analysis be reviewed by the IAMIT at their next meeting scheduled for November 21, 2013.

Administrative Record and Public Feedback

Public feedback on the Lifecycle Reports is posted on www.hanford.gov; however, not all are included in the Administrative Record. Ken Moser will check with the DOE Legal Department about placing comments from the State of Oregon and EPA into the Administrative Record (the Lifecycle Report is not a decision document).

3.0 Action Items

Action items are identified in Attachment B.

4.0 Addendum

On November 1, 2013, Ecology withdrew their request to include an alternatives analysis in the 2015 Lifecycle Report. This removed the need to bring the issue before the IAMIT on November 21, 2013, or to schedule a working meeting in early December 2013.
