This is to say I am a member of several organizations dealing with the environment.

It started my interest back in grade school many years ago as a member of the Girl Scouts and had as our leader a lady who was our Math, art and Gym teacher. She was a member of the Puyallup Indians and was one of the most memorable people I ever met. Kids loved her in this 8 room school in Tacoma.

These organizations give one access to speakers of vast experience to add to our knowledge and form our own thoughts.

Cowiche Canyon Conservancy, Yakima Greenway Foundation, Cascadian Hiking Club of Yakima, Washington Trails Association and also a supporter of Washington State Parks and sometimes volunteer.

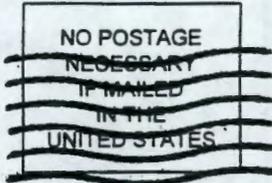

Let's not let greed influence what could be a natural school room for upcoming generations.

Familiar with how waste was dumped in barrels by cranes on the rock holes. All rock can split and so can metal containers.

Have talked to several state and U.S. Government experts on several subjects and they follow:
1- State Parks designed to filter water going into river.
2- Animal husbandry on livestock grazing and damage done
3- Both government and state geologist on rock soil etc.
4- Fisheries experts on habitat etc.
5- They all seem to leave the big question of the "Unknown"

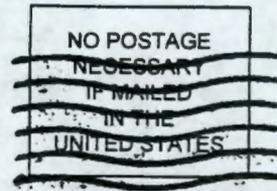

I favor Alternative #2
I read on all plans in Revised Draft Book after stopping at meet.
