Chornobyl City,

September 21, 1994

Dear Mr. W. Nelson,

First of all I would like to express our gratitude for excellent work you have done during your short visit to Chornobyl in September 1994.

Wax based technologies seem to be very useful to solve environmental problems caused by Chornobyl disaster. We hope that they might be used inside of "Sarcophagus" to prevent corrosion of metal constructions or as antidust means being pulverized. Outside of "Sarcophagus" the migration of radionuclides from radioactive dumps may be also diminished.

We continue to test yours materials for different purposes inside of the exclusion zone. The scale of this work depends at least at the beginning on your personal involvement. We are looking forward with the hope that we may form an international team of scientists and engineers to perform the real job at the really contaminated places. The experience received will be the property of all people deeply concerned with the protection of environment. I suppose that we need to prepare joint proposal for future large scale works in the exclusion zone, not only for technical purposes but also for human use by people living here.

We hope you will see a real opportunity in our new proposal.

Yours faithfully

V. Tokarevsky
