the HAB ER Committee will hold a 100 Area Risk Workshop on March 13 in Tri-Cities. We are welcome to attend.

Two of our Trustee Council participants -- Barb Harper and Jay McConnaughey -- are regulars on this HAB Committee representing their own agencies. If you have questions about the process, give either of them a call. It looks like the ER Committee invited DOE, BHI, and Washington F&WLS to present their own agency perspectives on ecological protection. This looks like a good opportunity to spread the word about our desire for site-wide biomonitoring. You can do that by showing up March 13 and by chatting informally with members of the ER Committee.

The agenda as well as a list of concerns/questions/issues is attached.

Have a great weekend, everyone.

Enclosed is the draft agenda for the 100 Area Risk Workshop on March 13, as discussed on the conference call today. I included a separate list of all the issues you've identified for discussion so we don't lose this. This is being faxed to the other call participants. Please call/fax/email comments to me tomorrow so we can get this distributed Monday.
