ACCELERATING CLEANUP: PATHS TO CLOSURE, RELEASED FOR REVIEW AND COMMENT

On March 2, 1998, Drafts of the National and Site Specific documents titled "Accelerating Cleanup: Paths to Closure" were released for review and comment. Copies of the National Draft are being transmitted under separate cover by the U.S. Department of Energy, Headquarters. Copies of the U.S. Department of Energy, Richland Operations Office's (RL) Draft are being directly mailed to Tribal Nations, stakeholders, regulators, and elected officials.

The RL Draft consists of an Executive Summary, Narrative, and Project Baseline Summaries. The Executive Summary provides an 18-page Hanford Site synopsis. The Narrative provides a 76-page discussion and is intended for the individual or group who requires additional detail. The Project Baseline Summaries (PBSs) are quite extensive (approximately 4,000 pages) and provide project-by-project detail, and are intended for the group or individual who requires in-depth information on the individual projects at Hanford.

Due to the size of the PBSs, limited copies are being distributed. These documents are available in the DOE Reading Room at Washington State University, Richland Campus, the Regional Public Information Repositories, and on the Internet at <http://www.em.doe.gov> and <http://www.hanford.gov/doe/10yrplan/hmd.htm>. Should you require additional copies of the Richland Draft, please specify which document(s) you would like and mail your request to:

As stated in the Drafts, a 60-day public comment period ending May 1, 1998, has been established. Site specific comments should be directed to RL at the above address. Any comments on the National Draft should be forwarded to Eugene Schmitt in Washington, D.C.

This Draft is a planning document outlining a broader picture of the Hanford cleanup than is available in the three year Federal budget process. The RL Draft is not a budget document, separate comments are being requested as the preparation of the RL Fiscal Year 2000 budget submittal progresses on a parallel path.

Should you have any questions please call me, or your staff may call James Daily of the Planning and Integration Division on (509) 376-7721.

Sincerely,
