Dear Mr. Wisness:

Re: Environmental Sample Data - Access to 1990, 1991, and 1992, HEIS Data
Past the 20-Day Validation Period.

In accordance with Hanford Federal Facility Agreement and Consent Order, Section 9.6, Ecology requires access to all HEIS level zero data that has past the 20-day validation period. This request applies to all data that has not been verified or validated in the period from June 1990 to July 1992. This information needs to be made available to Ecology for ongoing assessment and analysis work necessary to meet our oversight responsibilities under the TPA.

We request that all access limitation "flags" be removed from all data stored in HEIS that has past the 20-day validation period. This applies to sample data as well as biotic, geophysical, geologic, and soils data. An October 1, 1992, delivery date should provide sufficient time to enable any changes or updates to the database that may be necessary.

Ecology also requests a status report of all RCRA & CERCLA data be sent to us in order to determine what data is, and is not, in the HEIS database.

If you have any questions, please call Joy Denkers at (206) 493-9366. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Larry Goldstein
